On the last day of January the skies darkened and bestowed upon India the blessings of a rainfall. It commenced in Bengal and Behar, extending to Oude and the threatened districts of the northwest provinces. The area of scarcity is in consequence becoming more clearly defined, and the relief required better known to the colo- and Atlantic transit must take care to see that there nial authorities. A number of saloon-keepers engaged a band and a company of vocalists to visit the church of the Rev. Mr. Hatfield, in Cincinnati, and serenade the congregation during services, claiming this privilege on the ground that they had the same right to endeavor to convert Mr. Hatfield that Mr. Hatfield had to convert them. A large crowd gathered in anticipation of the event, but the saloonists finally thought better of it and gave the matter up. The grain crop this year, says the Red Bluff Sentinel, promises to be the largest ever harvested in Culifornia. Some good judges estimate that the amount of wheat alone will be forty million bushels. Should it reach that large figure, the

A nephew in Iowa denied the truth of the statement, and now his son writes a statement to show that the alleged interview and its supposed results were a complete and malicious fiction. There is no such street in Turin as the one in which Kossuth is reported to be living, and he is not a teacher of languages. He has enough to live on, and the only lessons he gives are those of patriotism and

There are in the warehouses of the metropolis no less than 10,000,000 pounds of tea so utterly adulterated as to be unfit for human food. So passeth away the glory of all earthly tea parties; gone is the scandal of our youth; departed " the cup that cheers, but does not inebriate." The voice of the tea-kettle shall sing no more in the sacred home of spinsterdom, and the Mr. Quilps of a coming age may return to their peaceful

For some time past we have been led to believe that the wonderful revolution which is going on in the Japanese Empire was in danger at the hands of the reactionists. The latest news from that country shows that the young Emperor is warmly enlisted on the side of progress. On the 29th of April he broke through the established customs of centuries and received the wives and families of the English, United States and Belgian Ministers. As a further proof of his willingness to yield to the spirit and requirements of the age, he has given orders that his income shall be taxed like that of his subjects. On the whole Japan is doing well, and under the guidance of her present enlightened chief, she promises to take her place at no distant day among the civilized nations of the world. The German Parliament has expressed a strong opinion against Bismarck's proposal to have a cace-establishment of the army as large as the war-establishment was before the war with Austria, in 1866. Nevertheless, the German Government is resolved to carry out its leader's purpose. We hear, says the Press, of its having ordered from Herr Krupp six steel breech-loading guns of about 120 tons each, to throw shots of the weight of 2,000 pounds, and to be constructed on the maker's well-known principle. The diffi-eulty with such enormous ordnance is that its use together with a fine assortment of eulty with such enormous ordnance is that its use must be local. To remove it from place to place would be very difficult, but for harbor defense, for fortresses, and even for sieges (it could only be brought up and placed in position), a huge Krupp gun must be formidable indeed. Herr Krupp has also received a German order for a large number steel breech-loading field guns 12 REPAIRING PROMPTLY ATTENDED To and 9 of pounders. The Ocean Mail Service.

The Sydney Morning Herald of the 10th of April.

The new Maile Service continues to develop its possibilities without at the same time giving us the actual satisfaction of performances to the contract. The last mail that reached us through America was most unreasonably detained before it reached San Francisco, and that involved a further delay so far as New South Wales is concerned, because the mail steamer had to go round by New Zealand to deliver which is that every member shall turn all his the mails for that colony. We have not as yet, therefore, had a single run without some contretemps, and this has necessarily somewhat tried the publi patience. It has, however, been satisfactorily demonstrated that the run from San Francisco to Sydney can be comfortably performed within thirty days by vessels of moderate size and power; and with superior vessels it is presumable that a considerable saving on that time may be effected. To make the service through to England, however, thoroughly effective, those who are in charge of the American is no unnecessary delay. It is on that part of the route more than in the navigation of the Pacific that time is most likely to be lost. So far as the passenger traffic by the new route is concerned, it is more than equal to the most sanguine expectations-in fact it is beyond the power of the present line to accommo date. The great hurry with which the present service was organized has compelled the contractors to employ such vessels as were promptly available, and though as to size and speed they leave nothing to complain of, their passenger accommodation is very limited, and there has been no time allowed them in port to refit. Travel by this route has therefore not drip cup. yet attained the degree of luxury which is desirable, and which it is confidently hoped will be fully real-ized when the steamers which are being specially constructed for the service are placed on the line. In the proceedings of the Legislative Council, April 9, we read the following remarks of the Post-

> Master General of New South Wales: Mr. Samuel felt perfectly convinced that the mail line across the United States of America would be a great success when the new boats now being built were brought into use; and he fully believed that the mails from England would be delivered in 42 days. Our mails were carried across the Atlantic by the Cunard line, which, during the year 1872, averaged 10 days for the passage, while the White Star line did it in a little over 9 days on the average. Six days and 20 hours was the usual time for conveyance across the American continent. He felt confident that JUST RECEIVED the mails would be brought from San Francisco to this colony in 24 days, or, at the most, 25. Allowing then, for the loss of two days in calling at Honolulu and Kandavu, this would give 44 days for the whole | OLDEST TOBACCO AND CIGAR STORE time of transit. He was speaking of the permanent service, and the temporary service would not last more than nine or ten months. Notwithstanding the many difficulties attending the inauguration of a new mail service they had succeeded in delivering the mails via San Francisco in less time than they were delivered by a well organized service by way of Southampton and Suez. He mentioned in reference to the last mail that two days were lost owing to the heavy portion having arrived at New York six days before the last portion. Hitherto the service had been carried on at every disadvantage at sea, as regarded the season, but there had been no obstruction on the American railway, which was well protected by snow-sheds. The new steamers now being built would be equal to a speed of 14 knots, though not up to that as an average. He believed the San Franof the San Francisco line and Sydney of the Suez [Applause and laughter.] The main questions of the day have nearly all been settled. Both parties are uniting quietly on the same general platform, and we are beginning to realize that there is such a thing as a great people prospering without the Govern-ment. The whole plan of adjustment, whether we consider the war itself, the subsequent disbandment of the armies of both sections, the emancipation of the slave, the suffrage of the colored men, the success of our paper currency, the settlement of our difficulties with England, the manner in which we have survived the panic -all these are unquestionably the product of the admirable workings of our free institution than the result of any statesmanlike sagacity.
